Given each year for "outstanding scholarly work in the fields of the arts and humanities, social sciences, law and theology," the Holberg Prize has been awarded to scholars like Julia Kristeva, Jürgen Habermas, and Frederic Jameson. There's a nice website with links to various works of Hacking's, as well as an interview. However, a particularly interesting page which was recently added consists of video and audio recordings from a symposium on Hacking's work held in conjunction with the prize. Here are the links to the individual recordings:
